THOMAS TODD CO., BOSTON, MASS.

50 State Street,
Boston, June 15, 1931.

Dear Classmates:

It is our 65th Anniversary and here is another little Class Report. Since last Commencement we have lost one of our number, our good friend Shaw. Requiescat in pace. We are now a little band of seven graduates, but, to copy Wordsworth's "Little maid" in his poem, "We are Seven," we should say, "We are one hundred and thirteen." You will be interested to see the picture of our maximus senectute at the age of fourteen and also, doubtless, to compare it with his picture as he is now, which is the frontispiece of our Report of 1927.

I will say no more now; only wish you, one and all, all health and happiness during the coming year.

Yours affectionately,

Charles E. Stratton,
Class Secretary.

SOPHOMORE CLASS SONG

By Nisbet Lawrence

I.

We've met together, classmates,
To celebrate return,
To toast our joys and drown our griefs
In the intoxicating urn.
Now let gloomy thoughts be banished,
And hostile cares cut sticks,
While we, in right good earnest,
Drink The Class of '66.

CHORUS

Hurrah! Hurrah! for '66, Hurrah!
Hurrah for the jolly good class,
Whose members true we are.

II.

With Andy Bates (1) we've finished,
And gentleman Georgy (2) too,
The deductions of J. Hudson (3)
Like the siege of Vicksburg through.
To the Devil give his due
Is a saying old and trite,
And we will drink Sol. Lincoln's (4) health
In bumpers full to-night.

CHORUS

III.

We'll give J. Mills (5) a trial,
And Slimy Goodwin (6) too,
And we will make him toe the mark,
As he has the means to do,
For examination slippers.
And all that sort of tricks,
May do very well for '65,
But not for '66.

CHORUS

IV.

Then let us be united,
Like the links of one vast chain,
That when our college life is o'er,
We may part to meet again.

CHORUS

The above is the best my memory will furnish of Lawrence's Song. I shall be obliged to any of you who will send me corrections and, particularly, the missing four verses.

SAMUEL APPLETON BROWNE ABBOTT. Born March 6, 1846.

He writes from Rome: "I had made all my arrangements to be with you on Commencement Day, but at the last moment I have had to cancel my sailing. Just at present in my bed, where the doctor says I must remain for a week or ten days at least. Fortunately the doctor took me in hand in season, otherwise my prospect of seeing you might have been relegated to the sweet bye and bye. As it is, I can hope to see you in the course of a few weeks at the most. I wish I could write you a letter for your little red book, but even if I were up to writing, I fear I should have nothing of interest to say to the noble band of survivors of the great Class of 1866. When you see them give them each and all my love."

Since that he has cabled his family that he will sail July 4th.

There is nothing new in my life or condition except that the year has slowed me up quite a little and I am beginning to realize that I am growing old. Do you know, the thought came suddenly, one day, and it seemed so funny that I laughed, and it was some minutes before I reached the complete realization. I have now settled down to enjoy, if possible, the new sensation and make the best of it. I hope to be with you, greeting those who may be present and sending greetings and good wishes to all present or absent."

EDWARD NICOLL FENNO. Born November 4, 1845.

He writes: "I note with amazement that Thursday, June 18th, will be a quinquennial anniversary for us infants of 1866 and that there will be a celebration of that fact at the Somerset Club, and that on the next morning the Methuselahs of '66 will proceed to take a little refreshment together at your apartment, 293 Commonwealth Avenue. I regret very much to say that being under the thumb, and consequently under the orders, of a most excellent physician, in obedience to his orders I shall not be able to attend the dinner on the 17th, but hope to take advantage of your hospitable invitation and meet the rest of the veterans at your apartment at eleven o'clock on June 18th.

"As to writing you a line for our annual booklet, I am very sorry that nothing of sufficient importance has occurred to me upon which to build any kind of a tale that would interest our little 'Band of Brothers,' but I can most truthfully say that, as the years roll by, my affection for them (that is, the 'Band of Brothers,' not the years) increases in emphasis, and I most sincerely hope that I may be in proper physical condition to meet the old boys of '66 on Commencement Day."

Thomas Pierpont Shaw
Died August 25, 1930

* THOMAS PIERPONT SHAW, son of Thomas Shepard Shaw and Mary (Sleeper) Shaw, was born at Holderness, New Hampshire, September 27, 1843. He fitted for college in the Lowell High School and entered Harvard a freshman with the Class of 1864, but ill health obliged him to leave college early in his sophomore year. He returned to Harvard in the fall of 1865, as a member of the Class of 1866, and received his A.B. in due course. He then entered the Harvard Law School and received his LL.B. in 1868. Meanwhile, he took private pupils, including the late Henry Cabot Lodge, and served the college as proctor and later instructor in Greek. After graduation from the Law School, he spent the next year and a half in Europe in general study and travel and on returning home opened an office and practised law in New York City. In the fall of 1870 a serious illness compelled him to relinquish his professional work and he returned to Lowell, where he lived the rest of his life. After three years of illness, he began studying medicine and in 1877 he received the degree of M.D. from Harvard and then began practising medicine in Lowell. He was chosen a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society. In September, 1884, at the age of forty-one, he was so unfortunate as to fall and break his hip, and, as the fracture failed to unite, he was unable to walk and was obliged to spend the rest of his life in a wheel chair. Nevertheless, he continued for several years to practise medicine and to manufacture and sell certain remedies, which had a large and successful sale. He bore his long confinement and occasional illness with wonderful fortitude and patience till his death, which came August 25, 1930, a month before his eighty-seventh birthday. He was a member of the Masonic Fraternity, and two years before his death he received the Veterans Medal awarded by the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts to those who have been members at least fifty years. He was married at Lowell, April 5, 1876, to Carrie Maria Stevenson, daughter of Diantha (Philbrick) and the Reverend William Stanley Stevenson, of Elmira, New York. Mrs. Shaw died September 11, 1895. He is survived by his daughter Annie, wife of Austin A. Frye of Lowell, and one grandson, offspring of his son Pierpont, who died in 1912. Shaw's father died in 1917 in his ninety-seventh year.

To show the wonderful spirit with which our classmate bore his long invalidism and confinement and his feeling toward his class, let me reprint a few extracts from his letters to the Class Secretary. In 1906 he wrote: "I have filled out the information blank to the best of my ability. It is a meagre showing, but the life is no less so, and yet I should not complain, for my health is fairly good and I am privileged to enjoy sort of a rus in urbe not uncongenial to my natural tastes in advancing years." In 1911, "There is nothing to be said except that I still live and still love Sixty-six and all its precious memories. God bless you, every one." In 1917: "If some miracle could put me on my feet, you would see me with you June 21, but the delightful memories of last year"—(he came to our Fiftieth Anniversary Dinner at the Harvard Club)—"will suffice to carry me through several more until perhaps our sixtieth reunion. My father is still living at ninety-six years, but is now very feeble. My own health is not of the best, but I keep up and about most of the time." In 1919: "I do send you, each and all, most hearty and affectionate greeting, and only wish that I had the wit and skill to write you some interesting word from an experience of thirty-five years of travel in a wheel chair. However, if some of the road has been rather gray and hubbly, it is to you, my Classmates, that I owe much of sunshine and happiness, and so my word shall be of thankfulness that my lot was cast to be a member of the dear old Class of Sixty-six." In 1924: "It is hard to make something out of nothing, and my uneventful life affords little material which could interest even my indulgent class-mates. But, none the less, my heart goes out to you in affectionate greeting, and will so continue to its last conscious beat."

SWITHIN CHANDLER SHORTLIDGE. Born June 8, 1840.

He writes: "I am taking occasion early to write you concerning my past year's experience, which you may possibly want to utilize in your coming annual class booklet, which we all await with intense expectation.

"As to events in which I take great interest, I want to express my sorrow at the death of Speaker Nicholas Longworth, the son of our beloved classmate, Nick Longworth, Sr., both Longworths being a great honor to their native city, Cincinnati.

"I shall be sending you next week a photograph, 6-4, which you may find it convenient to utilize in your coming annual booklet. This photograph is a copy of a daguerreotype, made of myself seventy-seven years ago, when I was between my birthday of June 8, 1854, and June 8, 1855. The original was taken by Garrett of Wilmington, Delaware, on an occasion when my father, George Shortlidge, took me to visit that city, and some relatives, who had settled there.

"I look forward to going to my son's camp, Marienfeld, at Chesham, New Hampshire, on June 21st, when the Storm King group, going to camp for the summer, will comprise my son, Raphael Johnson Shortlidge, whom I may be allowed to designate as an A.B. of Haverford College, and an A.M. in the Post-Graduate Course of Harvard College. When this son took his A.M. after having completed courses in which he received five A's, a very distinguished honor. My son's admirable coadjutor in his work as Headmaster of Storm King School is Helen Houghton Shortlidge, a graduate of Smith College, Northampton, Massachusetts. With my son and his wife will go on June 21, also, Mrs. George Houghton, dear Helen's mother, and also the five Shortlidge children, George Houghton, Ann, Peggy, Mary Jane and Raphael Johnson Shortlidge, Jr., who is approaching his third birthday. I am glad to look forward to going to camp on June 21, where I shall have such companionship and home life as the preceding remarks foreshadow.

"I think it worth while to give my beloved Class Secretary, Stratton, some account of the course of living and diet which I have adhered to for many years, and to which others as well as myself attribute my long life and my general health through so many years, especially years beyond the three score and ten usually allotted to elderly people. I am fortunate in being enabled to go to bed at night at any hour I may choose, as the day may close. This I consider most essential for elderly people. Four hours each week I listen over the radio to what is called a pure food hour, and the suggestions I get from this hour, and from my son Raphael and my daughter, Helen Houghton Shortlidge, are most valuable. I try to adhere to a diet which is adapted to my digestive organs. The matter of diet was a familiar concern of mine when I attended certain Quaker schools, when I was superintendent of the Abbott Hall table, when I was at Exeter, and when I was twice President of the Thayer Club at Harvard, which was conducted by our committee of which I was a member, with strict attention to menus that were suited to the health of the boys, who were members of the Thayer Club, which received special notice from two of the Harvard annual reports.

"For breakfast I have cereals of the wholewheat variety, including Quaker Oats and Wheatena alternately. At times I have pancakes, preferably buckwheat, and with these pancakes I have butter and honey, the honey being highly recommended by food experts. Several times a week I have either lamb or mutton chops, or possibly a pork chop, and with the chops I prefer baked new potatoes, baked with the jackets on, and served with butter and sometimes Worcestershire sauce. I find sliced cucumbers and sliced onions palatable, and easily digested, as well as celery and sliced tomatoes, the tomatoes being garnished with mayonnaise. I prefer asparagus taken from the canned asparagus. For bread I eat only the wholewheat bread, and no bread made of bolted and sifted flour which has been deprived of its mineral salts. It may surprise some persons who are devoted to a health-giving diet to learn that I purchase jars of pig's feet put up by Wilson & Company, of Chicago, Illinois, and that these pig's feet are a luxury which agrees with me, and they are the most palatable pig's feet I have purchased and enjoyed. I must not omit a statement that cauliflower is included in my menu, as well as mushrooms occasionally, in small quantities. Among my desserts I enjoy ice cream a couple of times a week, and pumpkin pie and mince pie. A great treat for me is Pennsylvania Scrappel, which is now kept here by the A. & P. stores. A great treat in the way of soup, a treat for me, is Ritter's Vegetable Soup. I must not omit a treat which I enjoy in French fried potatoes (new), fried in butter or olive oil, and not in fat. I have two hard-boiled eggs at night about five times a week. I drink pasteurized milk and cream of the quality supplied by Borden's. I drink a glass of pasteurized milk at least three times a day and sometimes more.

I drink no milk that has not been pasteurized. I must add that I eat at least a bar of Tasty Yeast every day. I find ginger ale very palatable, and very stimulating once or twice a week. Every morning I have a double cup of coffee with sugar and cream, three cubes of sugar to a cup of coffee. I must not forget that we have in our menus here at Hickory Lodge, during this season, apples and pears from Washington and Oregon.

"Although my eyesight is inadequate for any reading or writing, my hearing is still keen, and fully adequate for hearing anything which I wish to hear."

CHARLES EDWIN STRATTON. Born November 17, 1846.

I am glad to say that I am still alive and still able to go to my office every day for a few hours in the morning. My legs, however, I think are about 117 years old. They feel that way, but I am ashamed to complain of these old friends who have carried me along so well for so many years, and so many miles.

He writes: "I have your letter of May 9th inviting me to join you at a 7 P.M. dinner at the Somerset Club, but I fear I shall be unable to attend. I shall, however, be at your apartment at 11 A.M. June 18, but am doubtful as to going to the Yard. I am in fair health and though a valetudinarian, I manage to walk round Jamaica Plain Pond twice a day, or an hour's walk in the morning and another in the afternoon. I continue to be interested in international affairs, but a pessimist as to the general situation."

LEONARD WHEELER. Born August 31, 1845.

He writes: "Fate withheld a wife from me until after fifty years of bachelor solitude, but since that period it (fate) has been more generous, so that now, at eighty-five, I am finally a grandfather. Cornelia, daughter of Leonard, Jr., and Cornelia (Balch) Wheeler, was born on Easter Day, April 5th. That is really the only important item in the past year of my life history. As for the quinquennial dinner, my intentions are most favorable, but the possibilities are not yet assured. I will let you know in time to provide a place for me. With affectionate greetings to you all."

John Davis Williams
Died June 14, 1930

*JOHN DAVIS WILLIAMS, son of David Weld Williams and Adelia Coffin Williams, was born in Boston, Winthrop Place, off Summer Street, May 17, 1845. Both his father and mother were descended from ancestors who came here from England prior to 1650. Soon after his birth his parents removed to Roxbury, where he lived practically all his life. From '55 to '58 he went to Chauncy Hall School, kept by Thomas Cushing, and then to Epes S. Dixwell's, where he fitted for college and entered our freshman class. He was a good scholar and also a good oarsman. His senior year he was Number Eleven on the rank list for scholarship and he had a part at Commencement. During the whole college course he chummed with Robert S. Peabody. On graduation his class elected him a member of the Class Committee, a position which he held till his death, nearly sixty-four years. For eight or ten years after graduating he was in business, with one year in Europe, and thereafter devoted himself to the management of real estate and also of several trusts and for ten years, 1892-1902, was President of Institution for Savings in Roxbury and its Vicinity. He was always interested in charities and for a time was President of the former Gwynne Home. A few years before his death the City of Boston took for school purposes the old Williams family homestead at the corner of Warren and Townsend Streets, Roxbury, where he had lived for over seventy-five years. He writes about this in June, 1924: "After living peacefully for more than seventy-five years at the corner of Warren and Townsend Streets, Roxbury, I, with my sister and brother, was greatly disturbed by the City of Boston taking the old homestead with its various buildings and some five and one-half acres of land for a High School. Work was begun last May. For the present we shall be able to occupy our house, but in the near future, when the contemplated extension of the school house will be made, we shall be obliged to move. Among the buildings demolished was the bowling-alley, built over sixty-five years ago. Here I had, as a boy, many times set up pins for the Reverend Thomas Starr King, our pastor at Hollis Street Church, who was very fond of bowling and made the best score in his time." He moved to Brookline, where he died on June 14th, 1930, shortly after his eighty-fifth birthday, which had been a very pleasant occasion to him. He never married and he left as nearest surviving relative his brother, David Weld Williams, H. C. 1873. Their summers were most pleasantly passed with their niece, Olive Williams Morrill, and her husband, Joseph Morrill, A.B. Harvard '96.

This is the simple, condensed record of the long, busy, useful, modest, kindly life of our old friend. The world is all the better for his having been here, and his memory will always be dear to those who were so fortunate as to have known him.

JAMES MURRAY FORBES. Born July 17, 1845.

He writes: "I am very sorry that I shall be unable to be with you on June 17 and 18.

"I expect to be at Dark Harbor, Maine, for my summer outing; but even if I were here I could not join you and the survivors of our little 'Band of Brothers,' as my old legs have pretty much given out and I can do little except take an airing in my auto, or in my small auxiliary cutter in Maine.

"With loving greetings to you and all our boys."

* SAMUEL HENDERSON VIRGIN. Born at Carver, Mass., August 25, 1842. Died at New York City, September 17, 1911.

THEODORE MURRAY WATE. Born March 27, 1845.

CHARLES WELLET (OUELLET).

JOSEPH HENRY WILLARD. Born February 28, 1843.

He writes: "I know I must seem to be indifferent to the Class of '66, as I seem to be to that of '68, U.S.M.A. I have been almost shut in at my sister's home just beyond * * * the Newport line. I do not go out unless the weather favors, or if absolutely necessary, I go to see if there is any coin in Egypt (i. e., at Bank). I am opening my house in Newport, as I did last year, for my daughter Natalia, with a Duenna. In 1928 I went there from the hospital here, about mid-August. There was respite for quite a long time, but there has been sinus renewal, Tie douloureux (also Dollars), and frontal sinus with left side. At present only external application for temporary relief, as the physician here is considering the case, whether the surgeon from the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital should come and at least advise.

"I have had great anxieties all the time, too. My brother had a shock some months ago, but seemed to have almost recovered; but about ten days ago, just after breakfast, he complained a bit, while talking to his wife, and gently passed on. * * *

"Pray excuse and pardon this poor apology, and don't try too hard to decode it. My sister is no longer young, but she is bright and cheerful and is keeping one of Dorothy's children, who has grown from helplessness and illness into a sound, active boy of four. * * * I can't go at all. * * * When I do go out (in a closed car and careful driver) I find about one hour is the safe limit. I hope you will have clear skies and a full representation of '66. My love to you all for the honor of asking me to meet you."

If there is anything wrong in the above you must attribute it to the Secretary's misreading of Willard's handwriting. He also sent the Secretary a generous check for the Class Fund and added that it would be larger, were he not "très court d'argent." In regard to his handwriting he says: "This is the best I can do for a letter. Penmanship is a lost art; over 50 years of dictation and typists have destroyed my fine Italian hand. My father made his own pens—and his letters were even clear in his ninety-fifth year (a penknife was kept in its own case and never lent)."
